Philosophy 2/EthicSoc 20: Introduction to Moral Philosophy
Winter ’14-15

This course is a survey of moral philosophy in the Western tradition. What makes right actions right and wrong actions wrong? What is it to have a virtuous rather than a vicious character? What is the basis of these distinctions? Why should we care about morality at all? Our aim is to understand how some of the most influential philosophers (including Aristotle, Kant, and Mill) have addressed these questions, and by so doing, to better formulate our own views. No prior familiarity with philosophy is required. Fulfills the Ethical Reasoning requirement.

Instructor:
Prof. Tamar Schapiro
schapiro@stanford.edu
Office hours: Tuesdays 2:30-4:00 in 100-102A. Also by appointment if necessary.

Texts (available in the Stanford Bookstore):
Course Reader for Phil. 2/EthicSoc 20

*Kant: Groundwork of the metaphysics of morals. Cambridge University Press
Textbooks, 2nd Edition. Translated by Mary Gregor and Jens Timmermann.

Pre-requisites:
None. It is expected that many students taking the course will have had no prior training in philosophy.

Course Requirements:
Participation in section – 5%
5 acceptable 1-page response papers – 10%*
First paper (5-7 pp.) – 25%
Second paper (6-8 pp.) – 30%
Final Exam – 30%

* In order to earn any credit for response papers, you must turn in all 5. If you turn in 4 or less, you receive no credit for any of them. For further details, see “Response Paper Guidelines” (posted on Coursework).
Grading policies:
In order to pass the course you must complete all of the written work and attend lectures and sections regularly. Extensions on papers may be granted at the discretion of the TAs and/or Prof. Schapiro. Late papers will be docked one-third of a grade per day late (from A to A-, A- to B+, etc.).

Schedule of Readings and Assignments:
All readings are in the Course Reader (CR) except Kant’s Groundwork, Korsgaard’s “Introduction” to Kant’s Groundwork, Aristotle’s Nicomachean Ethics, and Susan Wolf’s “Moral Saints” (posted on Coursework). Please do each reading at least once before the day on which it is to be discussed. Readings for this course are not usually long but they are fairly difficult; most students find it helpful to read the material at least once before it is discussed in lecture and at least once afterwards.
